In our 2015 round of grants, the Leukaemia Foundation is investing almost $4 million of donated funds in an additional 14 promising blood cancer research projects, taking the total number of research projects currently being funded, to 49. A diagnosis of leukaemia, lymphoma, myeloma or a related disorder can have a dramatic impact on a person's life. At times it can be difficult to cope with the emotional stress involved. The Leukaemia Foundation's support services team can provide you and your family with much needed support during this time. We cherish any support you can provide to us on behalf of the people and the families affected.
